The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this Product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the Product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you.

We have classified this Product as 2 out of 7, which is a low risk class. In other words, the potential losses arising from the Product's future results are low, and if the market situation were to deteriorate, it is very unlikely that our ability to pay you would be affected.

What happens if Natixis Investment Managers International is unable to pay out?

The assets of your Product are held at its Depository, CACEIS Bank, and are distinct from those of the Management Company. As such, should Natixis Investment Managers International become insolvent, your Product's assets will not be affected. However, should the Depository or a sub-depository entrusted with the custody of your Product's assets become insolvent, there is a risk of financial loss. However, this risk is mitigated to some extent because the Depository is required by law and by the Product rules to separate its own assets from those of the Product.

As provided for by law, there is an investor guarantee or compensation scheme should the Depository default.

What are the costs?

The person advising on or selling you this Product may charge you other costs. If so, this person will provide you with information about these costs and how they affect your investment.

These amounts depend on how much you invest, how long you hold the Product and how well the Product does. The amounts shown here are illustrations based on an example investment amount and different possible investment periods. We have assumed:

- In the first year, you would get back the amount that you invested (0% annual return); For the other holding periods, the Product performs as shown in the moderate scenario;
